This is an API for App Inventor created by Marcia Barroso that helps you to add tables and their layout. Since App Inventor version 1.5.1, tables are no longer embedded in the app, so if you need to use tables, you'll have to prepare them in advance and then include the.aiw file in your app. To create your own tables, you'll need the following items: - a table model in XML format - a screen in.aiw format (the one in which you'll import your table) - a TextView containing the table's content

This tool can help you to load.aiw files from a folder, with a specific layout. A similar tool was already described here, but you will be able to use it only if you have the same app at the same time. You will be able to load only the.aiw file, the others.aiw files will not be loaded. This tool allows you to download directly from our website all the.aiw files that you have uploaded. So you can download the.aiw files and copy and paste them on your App Inventor IDE. You'll be able to download files of different sizes. In addition to this, you can choose the.aiw files and folders to download: * Only the files you have uploaded from your computer * All the.aiw files uploaded from your computer and from your friends * All the.aiw files uploaded from your computer
