Q: How to retrieve value of in the selected option of using JavaScript? Currently, I'm trying to develop an online e-book reader for my college project. The page is displayed in a modal window using the.modal() function. I have two tags: one is for selecting the chapters and the other for selecting which chapters to read. The page dynamically calculates the total amount of pages in the chapter and displays it as a tag. So far everything is working fine. Unfortunately I don't have enough understanding of JavaScript to modify the code, which is a school assignment. The project requires that I use Javascript to display all sections contained in the.docx file as an e-book. The main problem is that I'm unable to get the chapter name selected in the second select tag. When I try to do the equivalent of.click() it doesn't work. How can I do this? `$('.chapters').on("change", function() { var totalNumOfPages = 0; var chapter = $(this).find(":selected").text(); console.log(chapter); $('.pages span').each(function() { totalNumOfPages += Number($(this).text()); }); $('#totalPages').text(totalNumOfPages); }); $('#target').click(function() { $("#modal-content").load("_update-modal.html", function() { $("#myModal").modal("show"); }); }); .book-content { background: rgba(7, 105, 162, 0.5); color: #ffffff; font-family: Poppins; } .book-cover { position: fixed; top: 12.4vh; left: 8.5vw; } .book-main-title { position: absolute; font-size: 36px; font-weight: 500; top: 6.6vh; left: 8.5vw;`

Epidemiology and pathogenesis of clinical mastitis in dairy cows. The epidemiology and pathogenesis of clinical mastitis in dairy cattle are reviewed. The ecology of mastitis-causing bacteria is discussed with respect to the pathogenicity of these bacteria and how they interact with host defense mechanisms. The epidemiology and pathogenesis of mastitis are examined in relation to environmental factors, the individual cow and factors within the udder. Studies on the effects of lactation stage and lactation number on the host response to mastitis are reviewed. Lactational physiology factors that may affect mastitis are discussed.Q: Performance of key pairs (two way encryption) in a Redis cache? I use a Redis cache (memory backend) and a simple encryption of the string keys using a secret key. The data is read-mostly and un-updated every so often. I would like to know how the performance of the encryption of a string key, and the decryption will affect the performance of the cache? The keys are encrypted with a new cipher each time. I have implemented this using a transaction that each time a new key is written, there is a call to the encryption algorithm. There is an encrypt method and a decrypt method that do the actual work. Here is a sample code: ... def decrypt(self, redis_key: str) -> str: try: decryption_algorithm.decrypt_dict(redis_key) return redis_key except Exception as e: logger.error("Error while decrypting the key.") raise Exception("Error while decrypting the key. {0}".format(str(e))) ... @app.route('/add/{key}', methods=['GET', 'POST']) def add_key(key: str): try: redis_key = decrypt(redis_key=key) except Exception as e: logger.error("Error while decrypting the key. {0}".format(
