Q: access to a local server folder What's the easiest way of accessing a local folder in.NET (not on the internet)? Background: I want to create a.NET desktop application that can run on the local machine and access a folder. A: You can't see the contents of another machine's filesystem unless they're connected to the Internet, unless you know the IP address of the machine. There are a couple ways to do that, depending on the OS and whether the machine is behind a firewall. You can use a WebClient, which can use HTTP, HTTPS, FTP, or SFTP protocols to access a server on the Internet. You can use an HttpWebRequest, which can use HTTP, HTTPS, etc. to access a server on the Internet, but if it's behind a firewall, it can't access the content of the target folder unless you know the URL for that folder. /* * Copyright (c) 2020 Red Hat, Inc. * * This program is free software; you can redistribute it and/or * modify it under the terms of the GNU General Public License * as published by the Free Software Foundation; either version 2 * of the License, or (at your option) any later version. * * This program is distributed in the hope that it will be useful, * but WITHOUT ANY WARRANTY; without even the implied warranty of * MERCHANTABILITY or FITNESS FOR A PARTICULAR PURPOSE.
