... ... That's what 'not everyone is like that' means. Not everyone can accept a person who is different, but who is the best. Not everyone can accept a person who is different from the majority. Not everyone can understand what it means to be a person. Not everyone is able to forgive the person who has actually forgiven. Not everyone can understand that there is truth and there is falsehood. Not everyone can accept a person for who they really are. Not everyone can understand that just because he is different doesn't mean he is bad.
