I came across the notion that Cech compactness ensures that every set of the form $C = \bigcap_{i=0}^n U_i : U_i \text{ is open}$ is compact in the colimit topology. How can we prove that the rationals are not Cech compact? What I have tried is as follows. The rationals are countable so we can find a cover by open intervals and hence cover by U_i 's. Then I try to take the union of all these open sets. Is this a good strategy? A: Yes, it's a good strategy. When you build an open cover of the rationals, you can use open intervals. In fact, they give a good cover. Consider $U_i = (-i,i) \cap \mathbb{Q}$. A finite intersection of U_i 's is the rational number between $-i$ and i . Thus the cover defined in this way is countable. Now, a basic open cover of the rationals is made of all of the form $(n,n+\frac{1}{n}) \cap \mathbb{Q}$. If the rationals were compact, then the colimit topology would be the same as the usual topology on \mathbb{R}
