Fast Video Cataloger is a lightweight tool dedicated to lending you a hand with creating catalogs of all your videos and that packs an advanced search system so that you can find what you are looking for quickly. Add and index videos in four straightforward steps Following a quick and uneventful setup, you are prompted to import your media collection from various well-known sources. While you can proceed and make your job easier, you can also start working on organizing your clips from scratch. Creating a new database is a user-friendly operation that entails following four simple steps. Therefore, you can drag and drop the files or folders you want in the dedicated field from the Add Videos tab. Afterwards, you can set the thumbnails generation interval, fill out the shared properties and index the files. Play clips from thumbnails in your favorite player The UI is slightly rugged and because the tabs are crowded somewhere in the lower location of the panel, there is a chance it may take some time before you can get used to the navigation system. Then again, the utility comes with several functions that can help you overcome this setback. For instance, the app comes with an integrated player that enables you to playback clips from the time of a captured thumbnail. In case you are not satisfied with this player, then you can configure the tool to play the videos from your default app from the Preferences window. Wednesday, July 9, 2009 I can't be happy with how the only pic I took tonight of the nana in her ironing lady outfit went. It was fun, and she does a good job ironing, but it's not pretty. So, I will be showing you some more on the next post, but until then, here is a nice pic of her ironing lady outfit, and I apologize for the grubby hands. It's been a busy day.

DNA binding capacity of phosphoneurophosphonates. The binding of phosphoneurophosphonates, which are reactive agents used in the preparation of biomaterials, to DNA has been studied in view of possible adverse effects of these compounds. The method used was differential scanning calorimetry, allowing quantitation of the extent of interaction between DNA and the anion in aqueous buffer. The value of the binding constant (K) was approximately $1 \times 10^5 \text{ M}^{-1}$ and the stoichiometry of the interaction approximately 1:1. When 100 μM of the chelating agent were added to a solution of 100 mg of DNA, the heat capacity increment increased from 0.2 J/kg K to 0.9 J/kg K (25 degrees C). It is suggested that the interaction of the phosphorus group with DNA could be the cause of the high cytotoxicity of phosphonophosphonates and also may be responsible for the formation of insoluble complexes when DNA is added to a solution containing these agents. On April 5, 2020, the United States Supreme Court will hear arguments in a case with broad implications for the relationship between government and the press.

Assigned in April 2016, the case of Janus v. American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees was brought by Mark Janus, a former child support enforcement officer for Illinois, and the American Civil Liberties Union on behalf of several media outlets, including The Chicago Sun-Times, Politico, the Los Angeles Times, and The Washington Post. The journalists seek to overturn a previous decision in which the Court said that public employees cannot be compelled to pay dues for labor unions that negotiate on their behalf. The press intervenors argue that a similar First Amendment exemption from disclosure should apply to their labor agreements. Justice Antonin Scalia – whose brief opinion in the case is the most important in the history of the Court – has died of lung cancer at the age of 79.
