What's new:

is an IFV for IMBA RP that I have been creating for quite some time. While I put the early build together quite a few years ago and gave it to my character crew, I had not been making updates to it recently. During my recent trips to Vandy and MP2019, I had started playing around on the Skill Upgrades for Fleetfoot (induction ACU) again. I had to relearn a lot of the mechanics and had trouble getting it to achieve all the benefits that are supposed to come as a result of the upgrades. However, a handful of games and hitting the on-demand and FTP for fixes worked out well. It became a more viable and friendly vehicle for me to run on my tank crew. Upon revisiting this, I tried putting more thought into the process and developed an updated plan for the upgrades and have been making good progress on one of the three that I will have open for next years. This is the first version of Fleetfoot to have the induction ACU Skill Upgrade and as a way to familiarize people with the concept I am going to try to have it available for all our little vehicles as promised. While not having data for this work yet, I already have the vehicles in place to prove that it works. While Fleetfoot is a vehicle that I started making in the year 2013 and I have put some significant hours and love into improving her, I actually purchased some copies of this vehicle through MP2018 stock. This got me thinking - Why not apply the improvements to the purchase copy so I could provide a base for everyone to work off of if they wanted to improve their copy? My reasoning is that since I have a pretty decent track record with Fleetfoot that I felt that I could represent some decent upgrade paths for Fleetfoot enthusiasts. The Fleetfoot LGS around here also has a good relationship with the seller that I purchased the vehicle from, so they can represent Fleetfoot fairly well. That way, they still support their own TANKS! I think that this approach is better because a lot of people may be just starting out and don't have a truck to start on with an upgraded version (like me). If we are going to be thinking as a community about having stuff available for everyone, then shouldn't we be doing it for everyone? So anyone should be able to have this thing after release! Also, it's not an official P-Bandai vehicle unlike the kits that are being released soon. And lastly,
