The auspicious times of the birth of an individual and an event for the Tamil people are considered the ancient and most powerful astrology system. These have also been symbolized as vakya panchangam, which has been the most powerful system of predicting the future. These predictions are provided by a set of Vedic rituals done to calculate the birth time of an individual. Because of the predictions and guidance on the birth pattern provided by these Vedic rituals, the Tamil forefathers started to do rituals to predict the birth pattern of an individual in their life. Tamil Pambu Panchangam is the generic name given to the text that contains this information. It explains what the birth time is and how to find out whether that particular year is best to have an event or not. It discusses in detail the prognosticating horoscopes of Tamil people. Karanam Ramakumar : This page deals with the calculation of Tamil Panchangam. Karanam Ramakumar Tamil Panchangam. In our previous article we had covered about how to calculate. for your place.Q: How to make a sidebar stick with content? How to make a sidebar stick with content? I currently have my sidebar with a nice slide to move the content to the left. I want the sidebar to stay with the content when the screen is made smaller, so it doesn't take up valuable space. Does this need to be done with JavaScript? HTML Content goes here more content CSS #content{ display: none; } #sidebar{ background-color: rgb(1, 60, 139); width: 250px; height: 100%; float: left; margin: 20px 0 0 0; } #sidebar.content{ display: block; } JS var sidebarHeight = $(" #sidebar").height(); $(window).resize(function() { console.log("window resized"); sidebarHeight = $(" #sidebar").height(); console.log(sidebarHeight); $(" #content").height(sidebarHeight); console.log("content height is: " + $(" #content").height() + ", sidebar height: " + sidebarHeight); }); A: In your current setup you can simply target.content and use.offset(). Then you can check if you have a button with id=miniature and if so, you can increase the left margin-top css property of the.content. Because you have taken a float:left, the margin-top is out of context. Below is a working example:
